ANNUAL REPORT OF THE
COLONIAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.
1861.

THE Fifteenth Annual General Meeting of the Colonial Life Assurance Company was held within the Company's Office, No. 5, George Street, Edinburgh, on Friday the 1st day of November—

JAMES HAY, Esq., merchant, Leith, in the Chair.

The following STATEMENTS were submitted to the Meeting:—

BALANCE SHEET or Abstract of the Company's Affairs, as at 25th May 1861, certified by the Actuary, Auditor, and three of the Directors in accordance with the Company's Act of Parliament.

REPORT BY THE AUDITOR on the Books and Accounts of the Company for the Year ended 25th May, 1861.

REPORT BY THE DIRECTORS on the Progress of the Company.

THE FOLLOWING RESULTS WERE COMMUNICATED IN THE REPORT:—

The Numbers of Proposals for Assurance made to the Company during the Year was 886 for assuring £350,105 5 2

The Amount of Assurances accepted was £420,175 5 2

The corresponding Annual Premiums being ..... £ 15,053 17 2

The Claims by Death during the Year, exclusive of Bonus Additions, amounted to ..... £ 33,063 2 8

The Annual Revenue was £119,353 3 0

The Accumulated Fund amounted to £412,016 0 1

The REPORT then proceeded as follows:—

"It is now fifteen years since the Company was established, and the results of its operations, year by year, have fulfilled entirely the most sanguine views of its promoters. Its progress has not in any one year manifested the the slightest symptom of irregularity; and although the Directors have at hitherto claimed publicly for the Institution the exclusive merit of being a highly successful enterprise in a new field of business, anxious that the principles of the Institution, and the basis of its operation, should be fully tested, they consider it would be unnecessary reserve were they any longer to hesitate in asserting these claims.

"The COLONIAL COMPANY have extended throughout the Colonies of Great Britain, on sound principles, the great benefits of Life Assurance; and if the original introduction of Life Assurance in Great Britain by its promoters was a great boon, in no less degree have this Company earned a good name by extending similar benefits to our Colonial possessions.

The CHAIRMAN, in moving the adoption of the Report, addressed the Meeting as follows:—

"The Report by the Directors which you have just heard read conveys to you a full account of the financial position of the Company, and of its general progress; but I cannot help feeling that the bare narrative of these commercial results, as I may be allowed to term them, scarcely conveys to those interested in the Institution and to the public at large, an adequate idea of what this Institution has done, and is doing, in the way of extending Life Assurance.

"As I have been connected with the Colonial Company since its formation in 1846, you will, I have no doubt, concede to me the privilege of a few words on so important an occasion as the present, without fear of trespassing on your time.

"When the Colonial Company was established, I freely confess that its operation was to some extent tentative. We possessed considerable information as to the value of life in the Colonies, more especially of a medical kind; but, with all our resources, we were entering on a new field of business, and it was not without much anxiety and watchfulness that we advanced step by step in our progress.

"In Canada and British North America, the field, I may say, was untried; but with our knowledge of the value of life in that quarter, as to which we possessed considerable information, we entered with boldness on that field, opening at once a Branch Office at Montreal. From the first our operations there were successful, as well as in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Newfoundland; and we have ever since obtained a large share of business from these Colonies. Our confidence in pushing the business soon attracted attention. A native Office came into existence, Branch Offices from Scotland and England followed in a few years; and you may judge of the competition now, when I inform you that no less than six Scotch Offices are actively pushing business in Canada, besides the Agencies of English and American Offices. Still we hold our own; and I may confidently state that the Colonial still maintains the first place in the estimate of our brethren in that quarter.

"In the West Indies the Company has been particularly successful. One or two small native Offices, confining their business to their own districts, existed before we broke ground, an Agency of a home office also existed in one of the islands; but in the rest, as well as in Demerara, Life Assurance was entirely a new benefit. It was the Colonial which first gave confidence in the transaction of such business in the West Indies, and it has reaped the first fruits of success, which have been largely shared by its Policy-holders.

"In the East Indies the Company has proceeded cautiously and economically. The field had been occupied previously by native Offices and Branch Offices from England. Some of these have disappeared; but the Colonial, notwithstanding the competition, has steadily held its position, and is now doing a very excellent business in the three Presidencies.

"In Ceylon the Company has been particularly successful. It was one of the earliest Branches of the Company, and the extent of business leaves little room for competition.

"At the Cape the Company has formidable competition from the native Offices; but a fair share of business has been acquired under the guidance and protection of our excellent Local Board, and there is every prospect of a large accession to our Policy-holders in future years.

"At the Mauritius the Company has made successful progress; and our Agency at Shanghai has been productive of good results. Agencies have also been opened with success at Penang and Singapore.

"The Directors have hesitated to enter on the wide field of Australian business. They have many Policy-holders in that quarter; but the information as to the value of life in that great Continent is still limited, and as agencies could only be opened on the assumption that life throughout its whole period was as good (at least to the northward of 30° south latitude) as in England, they have not as yet found themselves justified in entering on that field of business.

"In the course of these few observations I have referred to native Offices transacting business in Canada, the West Indies, the East Indies, and the Cape, and it would be ungenerous were I to leave you with any impression on your mind that we undervalued these institutions; far from it, we look upon them as honourable rivals; and and such competition, instead of being regarded by us with a jealous eye, is looked upon as a source of good. The more a knowledge of Life Assurance is diffused, the more will men avail themselves of it, and in our experience we have found that we succeed best where we have to hold our ground against honest competition. We have an advantage, however, over these Institutions. It is this, that our Institution is cosmopolite in its character and constitution. We are to be found in every Colony, as well as at home, and no Policy-holder has any difficulty arising out of his removal from one place to another; while, in the event of claim, our funds are ready to satisfy all demands wherever they arise.

"I have only, in conclusion, to express a hope that, when we next meet again, and in all time coming, the Directors of the Company may be able to report as favourably of the Company's progress as the present Board have done on this occasion."

The motion for the adoption of the Report was seconded by RALPH ERSKINE SCOTT, Esq., C.A., and unanimously agreed to.

On the motion of the Chairman, a vote of thanks was given to the Local Boards, Secretaries, and Medical Officers of the Company at home and abroad.

A vote of thanks was also accorded to the Office-Bearers of the Company, and to the Chairman for his conduct in the Chair.

The Meeting then separated.

NOTIFICATION.
BRITISH CONSULATE,
TIENTSIN. 20*th June*, 1862.

The Undersigned hereby calls the attention of shippers of goods for Takn and of the Masters of Merchant vessels bound for that place, to the fact of there being two anchorages at Taku, an outer and an inner, and to the advisability of having it in all cases distinctly specified upon bills of lading at which of these two anchorages goods are deliverable.

The outer anchorage is separated from the former by the Bar of the Pelho, which is composed of hard mud and is about one mile in breadth; and the Undersigned has been informed by the Senior Naval Officer in the Gulf of Pechell that no sailing vessel drawing more than eleven feet should attempt to cross this bar even at high water.

WE have to apprise our readers, who are lovers of early rising and sight seeing, that a very pleasing military manœuvre, entitled "Guard mounting and trooping the colour," will be gone through by the British troops on the garrison parade, near the commencement of what is technically termed "the straight" of the old race course, inside the lines of defence at 6 A.M. every Monday—the first to take place on the 7th instant.

IMPARTIAL, NOT NEUTRAL.

SHANGHAI, SATURDAY, JULY 5 1862.

THERE is no branch of statistics so important to the community of Shanghai as that which illustrates the condition of its external trade, and the revenues derivable from that source. It is true that we have a landed interest in this Settlement which is rising rapidly into equal importance with the commercial interest, and demanding a full investigation into the vital statistics of our heterogeneous population; but as yet we have no data to work upon, for the purpose of illustrating that section of political science. On the other hand, since the establishment of the Imperial Customs in China under foreign supervision, we have returns furnished in detail concerning the Shipping, the Export and Import trade, the duties paid thereon, and similar facts, that enable us to comprehend the progress, or otherwise, of our commerce with the greatest accuracy — returns which will compare favorably in their construction with those issued by the Customs of any ports in the United Kingdom. Much has been said against the principle involved in the organization of a foreign supervision of Customs by traders of lax commercial morality, but even they must concede that the publication of these returns are essential to the man of business, who wishes to know the true state of trade at the open ports in China. Previous to this establishment being formed, merchants were groping in the dark as to the actual amount of imports and exports shipped and landed at Shanghai, and many a bad venture was entered into in consequence. Now the prudent trader by a careful perusal of those returns, can ascertain the general state of the markets to a nicety, and thereby avoid much loss and anxiety. If, therefore, for no other reasons than these, we have to congratulate the community on the labours of the Foreign Commissioners of Customs in China.

Through the attention of our esteemed Commissioner at this port, Mr. Fitzroy, we are in possession of these returns for the year 1861, from Shanghai, Foochow, Swatow, Yang-tsze River, and the Northern Ports. We have also before us a precis drawn up from previous documents, showing the aggregate returns for the years 1854 to 1860—altogether a history of the foreign trade in North-China during the past eight years. As our space is limited, and the subject important, we shall confine ourselves at present to a brief analysis of the principal document, entitled "Returns of the Import and Export Trade, carried on under Foreign Flags at the Port of Shanghai for the year 1861."

The first return is that of the Import trade, amounting in British sterling money to £16,003,062. This is divided into three heads, General Imports £10,493,972, Opium Imports £3,742,021, and Treasure £1,856,468—the latter item being only approximate, from the difficulty of obtaining correct statements, as it is free from duty. General Imports are again subdivided into £4,238,674 for the first half-year, and £6,165,298 for the second; showing that the bulk of the merchandise arrives during the latter part of the year. Of this the chief articles are of Manchester manufacture, amounting to not less than three millions sterling. Opium Imports are subdivided into Malwa and Patna, the latter amounting in value to less than one-third of the former. The total as compared with the returns of the previous year £18,326,430, shows a decrease of £2,323,378; but this is solely in treasure and opium as there is an augmentation in general imports, representing the legitimate import trade of the country, of not less than £1,864,480.

Of the Export Trade the total is placed at £9,958,957, against £10,779,319 in 1860. This falling off is chiefly in the article of silk, while the treasure exported is more than double. The items are as follows:—General Imports for the half-year ended 30th June £3,900,089, and 31st December £4,805,053—total £8,700,942, and Treasure £1,252,014. If we add the declared value of exports to imports we obtain a grand total of £25,962,019, as representing the external foreign trade of Shanghai for the year 1861. Although this shows an amount of commerce equalling one of the wealthiest British colonies, yet it exhibits a deficit on the total external trade of the previous year—which amounted to £29,105,740—of not less than £3,143,720. This deficit, as we have before observed, is accounted for by the immense amount of treasure imported in 1860, chiefly, we presume on account of the requirements during the war in that year by the Allied forces. At all events these statistics plainly shew that the ordinary statement of our combined Import and Export Trade, reaching the annual sum of forty millions sterling, is not founded on facts and figures.

The next section of these returns is that which immediately interests us most, viz: the amount of revenue received at the Customs from Imports, Exports, and Tonnage Dues. As the monies derived from this source are understood to be expended by the Chinese Superintendent of Customs for the improvement of this port and the protection of Shanghai and its environs from native aggression, the foreign community, which pays nine-tenths of the aggregate amount, are naturally anxious to know the actual sums collected, even if they have at present no controul over the expenditure. The total receipts under this head are given in Tls. 2,774,450, which, at the exchange of 6s. 2d. per Tael, is equal to £855,455 sterling—a noble revenue, but by no means so great as public report guessed it to be. In order to give this part of the returns the widest publicity, we insert a summary of duties paid, included in the return.
